East Rail Line Enhances Regular Train Services on Weekends and Holidays Starting from this Saturday

MTR Corporation has been closely monitoring the operation of railway lines and making necessary adjustments to train services to cater to the travel needs of passengers. In response to the growing patronage on the East Rail Line ("EAL"), starting from this Saturday (16 March 2024), the Corporation will enhance regular train services on the East Rail Line during the morning, evening and night periods of weekends and public holidays. A total of 76 additional train trips will be added each week. (Please refer to the annex for details)

Following the service enhancement, the train frequency running between Admiralty and Tai Po Market Station, as well as Lok Ma Chau Station will be stepped up to meet the travel pattern of EAL passengers, also facilitating both northbound and southbound cross-boundary travellers.

MTR Corporation will continue to closely monitor the operations, passengers' travelling patterns, and patronage of various railway lines. We will maintain close communication with relevant government departments to suitably adjust train service based on actual demand and train operations.
