

Starting from 28th December 2016, the MTR will open the new South Island Line from Admiralty to the Southern District, connecting Ocean Park, Wong Chuk Hang, Lei Tung and South Horizons. This extension means that the MTR now offers direct links to all 18 districts in Hong Kong and offers a comprehensive network of fully integrated services for a new generation of rail travel called Rail Gen 2.0.

Connecting the South and all 18 districts quickly and conveniently Fully Automatic Operation

South Island Line is a medium capacity railway system with 3-car trains; each train consists of three compartments and operates under the Fully Automatic Operation system. The train adopts an open design without driving cab. Passengers can enjoy themselves in the spacious area, and enjoy an unobstructed view of the beautiful scenery through the windscreens.

During most emergencies, train service could be resumed via reset of train and automatic recovery supported by control from Operations Control Centre so that the stability of train service can be enhanced.

Operations Control Centre also can arrange spare trains to serve passengers to cater for any upsurge in patronage.

The Fully Automatic Operation system is a mature technology that has been adopted by railway networks all over the world, including the Disneyland Resort Line since 2005.

Journey Time

Simply hop on the train of South Island Line at Admiralty Station and get to Ocean Park Station in 4 minutes*, and South Horizons Station in 11 minutes*, and avoid traffic congestion at street level.

The estimated journey time between South Island Line stations and other stations will be available from the Train Trip Planner in MTR Mobile or www.mtr.com.hk beginning on the opening day of the South Island Line's operations.

*Estimated journey time from the originating station to the destination station.
