

Corporate Biodiversity Policy

The Corporation considers that the protection of natural resources is important for the conservation of biodiversity of Hong Kong in a sustainable manner. In order to meet this commitment stipulated under the Corporate Sustainability Policy, the Corporation will ensure practical consideration is given to the following:

- ◆ Compliance with all legal requirements and regulations relevant to biodiversity.
- ◆ Taking practical and appropriate measures to protect important natural habitats and maintain the diversity of plants and animals within the areas in which we operate.
- ◆ Ensuring that our business activities do not cause significant impacts on the natural environment and take relevant mitigation measures to minimize any impact.
- ◆ Consideration that areas, with particularly rich or important biodiversity, require specific care and attention. Such areas include: sites of special scientific interests and protected areas as defined by local statutory regulations and international convention.
- ◆ Providing information and raising awareness among our stakeholders and the general public to enhance knowledge and understanding of biodiversity and its implication to our living environment.
- ◆ Reporting on status of those areas within the Corporation's control through the annual Sustainability Report.
