

【Shenzhen】 The running man carnival
Go-karts and flight stimulators: one ticket, endless fun!

“Airparty Sports Carnival”, located in Shenzhen’s Longgang District (Jihua Subdistrict), is currently the city’s largest two-storey indoor sports carnival park, covering about 18,000 square meters. Its facilities and experiences are in a league of their own. Wide and open, its outdoor go-kart circuit features a dual-lane design, perfect for the thrill of overtaking. The racing simulators are equipped with motion seats and 180-degree ultra-wide screens for total immersion.

The flight simulators are remarkably realistic, replicating the cockpit of a C919 commercial airliner, with control buttons faithfully reproduced down to the finest detail.

It also featured a rare dedicated social deduction game zone, complete with a host, a podium, and indicator lights to draw you straight into character. There is a wide variety of sports games, including AR dodgeball HADO, VR paragliding, laser shooting, trampolining, and balance challenges, the list goes on and on.

The highlight of the park is its game show-style obstacle challenges, such as “Rock Hammer Chamber” and “X Chamber”. Families can team up and take on the courses together. The soft floor padding ensures the experience is both exciting and safe.

There are also escape rooms, a 7D glasses-free flight experience theatre, and the iconic “Name Tag Ripping” game from Running Man, all included with a single ticket for a full day of fun, offering excellent value and making it a top choice for family entertainment.
